This Plan

Effective execution of this new strategic plan through the period 2018-2021 will ensure Bushwalking WA’s vision of “Better bushwalking for Western Australia” is widely embraced. The benefits of BWA’s promotion, support and advocacy of bushwalking will be:

- more Western Australians will participate in bushwalking as a healthy, environmentally responsible and safe activity;
- bushwalking organisations will responsibly support the growth in bushwalking activity; and
- WA will be increasingly recognised for its range of attractive bushwalking opportunities and quality trails.

The Plan is a living document, subject to regular review and update by the Board.

Our History

Bushwalking WA (‘BWA’) is the informal name for the Federation of Western Australian Bushwalkers Inc. founded in 1992 as the peak body for bushwalking in Western Australia. BWA is a volunteer run, not-for-profit incorporated association. Over most of the past 25 years the Federation primarily represented the interests of just its bushwalking member clubs and until 2015 was governed by a Council of Delegates from the clubs.

In 2014 an organisational and strategic review was carried out for the Federation by an independent consultant funded by DSR. As a result of the review, changes proceeded under a 2015-2017 strategic plan as part of which the Federation implemented a modern governance model and established a new Board of management replacing the former Council of Delegates. These changes now enable BWA to represent the wider bushwalking community in WA, beyond our traditional Club base and so pursue a broader, more comprehensive and more inclusive vision for bushwalking in the State.

BWA is a signatory to and supports the principles of the Walk 21 International Charter for Walking.

Our Purpose

BWA's Rules of Association outline the following purposes:

- Promote safe and environmentally responsible bushwalking to the community.
- Promote and actively work for the conservation and effective management of the natural environment, including National Parks, wilderness, coastal and other public land areas to enhance their bushwalking value to the community.
- Work to assist with the development, maintenance and protection of the integrity and accessibility of walking tracks and trails so as to enhance their bushwalking value to all.
- Provide services to Member Associations, bushwalkers and the wider community in furtherance of these objectives.

Our conduct

Core Values	Core Behaviours
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Open, ethical, professional & accountable in all that we do• Inclusive and respectful of diversity• Respect & love of our natural bushwalking environment• Commitment & pride in BWA• Active in embracing change	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Operate proactively as a leader in the bushwalking community• Respond to stakeholder needs & aspirations• Advocate for the community• Maintain best practice governance & management• Build an effective sphere of influence

Our Constituency

In advocating on bushwalking and related conservation issues in Western Australia, BWA collectively represents an estimated 65,000 Western Australians who go bushwalking (*1). A majority of WA's bushwalking clubs are Member Clubs of BWA, with over 1000 individual members. BWA also welcomes as members non-bushwalking affiliate organisations, and individuals, sympathetic to the purposes and interests of BWA.

Our Vision

Better Bushwalking for Western Australia

A large and diverse bushwalking community enjoying world-class walking opportunities across a wide range of WA landscapes

Community participation - The significant health and other benefits to the community gained from more people walking more often in natural places are today widely recognised.

Walking is by far the most popular form of recreation or exercise in WA. But bushwalking in WA has historically ranked only fourteenth in popularity out of about fifty available recreational activities, whereas Australia-wide it has ranked eighth (*1). That relatively poor WA ranking may have improved, especially with the recent rapid growth in this State of large online Meetup bushwalking groups. BWA recognises this broadening of organised bushwalking beyond our traditional club base and the need to represent the interests of all bushwalkers.

Bushwalking for all - Bushwalking is generally seen as a life-long activity available to anyone with appropriate fitness levels, so bushwalking opportunities must reflect the needs of the young, aged and people with disabilities, as well as those seeking more demanding walking challenges.

Research (*2) confirms there is a wide spectrum of bushwalkers in Australia who do want a wide range of bushwalking challenges. They want access to world-class opportunities to enjoy and discover diverse landscapes and parks, ranging from easy short walks on well-constructed paths to multi-day off-track walks in remote areas. Popular walking areas require adequate amenities, parking and transport options, along with good signage.

Opportunities - Western Australia already provides some excellent bushwalking opportunities, including most notably, the long-distance Bibbulmun Track and Cape-to-Cape Track, plus many short family walk trails. But we have a dearth of developed, day circuit trails of good length to satisfy the many bushwalkers who are neither seeking a longer through-walk nor a very short walk. e.g. A majority of the existing designated walk trails in the Hills area near Perth are short walks at the least challenging end of the spectrum. Great potential exists for new trails.

Natural undisturbed environments - Bushwalkers also seek trails in a range of attractive natural environments free from excessive development, noise, or interference from other recreational users. Achieving new trails requires a willingness on the part of all stakeholders to address access and other issues in the context of the greater community benefit.

Our vision encompasses all of this. Many issues are beyond BWA’s direct control so it is important that we advocate effectively on behalf of all bushwalkers and use our knowledge and resources to educate the community, decision makers and land managers on what is important to bushwalkers.

Our Mission

To foster and promote bushwalking in Western Australia:

by inspiring motivation and confidence

- Inspire more people with the motivation and confidence to walk in natural areas for enjoyment, health, wellbeing and appreciation of our Western Australian environment.

by promoting the opportunities

- For those with limited knowledge or ability: Ensure they have access to good information and bushwalking organisations who can mentor them in finding suitable, safe opportunities.
- For more experienced walkers: Help them discover new places to visit and to access the resources needed to ensure they enjoy their bushwalking experiences and return home safely.

by supporting our organisations

- Support and promote our network of clubs and other bushwalking organisations so that more people are aware of the benefits of joining a club. Our clubs provide the WA community with opportunities to bushwalk responsibly.

by harnessing resources & support

- Ensure our community leaders and land managers recognise the health and wellbeing benefits of bushwalking and so provide the resources and support that will enable more people to bushwalk more often in more places.

by working for the community

- Use our knowledge and expertise to benefit the community; through helping facilitate new trails developments, and by educating the community on responsible bushwalking.
